Accomplishments

The assembler is tested, and my efforts on it will be done unless something goes wrong. My role is primarily to work on the benchmarks that we discussed so that we can measure our performance and actually have result.s We spent early this week prepping for the demo, and unfortunately banging our heads against the wall on compiling Linux images. I spent some more time working on Mandelbrot, but also have been focusing on the presentation which I will have to give.

Schedule

I hope everything comes together, but there is really a lot to be done. I have not yet heard of the full design fitting on an FPGA. We can have a lot to show, or we can on schedule to have them working the day after the demo. We need to work hard.
