Accomplishments

During class time this week I worked on C code for the Mandelbrot demo, getting a basic non vectorized version to work. Later I will add vectorization. Outside of class, I was busy to say the least. As Head of Electrical for Booth, I needed to inspect and assist all of the booths before opening, and this ramped up to needing to be up most of the night on Wednesday. In addition, I participated in the W3VC buggy safety net on both Friday and today, and loaded in and struck AB Spring Concert. I have not been able to spend time on capstone, nor any other classwork.

Schedule

Overall the group is on schedule, but I had still hoped to be generating vector instructions sooner/had already succeeded. I feel that I still need to catch up more, and I hope to schedule time to that effect early this week. I need to put some time into the assembler again and also on the other demos. I will make sure to find time.
